Not illustrated. 1900 Excerpt: . meal with the disciples One of the panels under the centre has been filled with remains from another window. It was damaged by a ball in the siege of 1591. at Emmaus. This window, like that at Le Mans, is somewhat Byzantine in character. The absence of a border to the window increases the apparent stiffness, but the colouring is superb, the large broad masses of clear colour, so characteristic of twelfth-century glass, being especially noteworthy. In the centre window (32 feet 10 inches), which consists of 27 panels within a border, we have in the head the Virgin and the Child, and below twelve of the chief events in the gospel history, from the Annunciation to the triumphal entry into Jerusalem. The border to the window is very fine but the lower portion on either side does not seem to be the same work as the rest. On the right is a Jesse window with a very effective border. Among the branches are four kings, then the Virgin and Christ with the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost. On either side of the main trunk are seven prophets. In the Windows in the North Aisle of the Nave, north side, beginning at the west end are represented: --1. The story of Noah. This window was given by the Carpenters, Wheelwrights, and Coopers. The window is dark in tone, and is in a very dark corner of the nave. 2. Story of S. Lubin, who...
